THE BLUE GRASS
CARRIAGE SHOP,

West William St., Half a Square from Main.

We are comparably strangers in a new location, but a bran new shop, with facilities to construct anything on wheels from a wheelbarrow to a carriage. And while we make a specialty of jobs to order, will confine ourselves for the present to repairing, general blacksmith and wood work, trimming, painting, and overhauling old work. We are not agents for any shyster or machine work. Mr Gregor is an experienced shoer, having years of practice in this most important line in the cities of Chicago and Dubuque, Iowa. We will convince you that a horse shoer is born, not made, if you will take the trouble to call just once. We came to this section to remain in spite of high water and hard times, and being unknown have nothing more to commend our claims to you for patronage than our knowledge of mechanism, and we trust an appreciative and indulgent public. We have ample room for farmers' teams and rigs while in the city, and will make it to their especial interest to call on us for anything in our line. With a guarantee of our work, or money refunded, and a solemn promise of our prices being in accordance with the times and not with custom, we ask you to look for the big sign of the Blue Grass Carriage Shop, and if you mean business come once, and we have no fears that our magnetism will not draw you thereafter.

Surface Indications

What a miner would very properly term "surface indications" of what is beneath, are the Pimples, Sties, Sore Eyes, Boils, and Cutaneous Eruptions with which people are annoyed in spring and early summer. The effete matter accumulated during the winter months, now makes its presence felt, through Nature's endeavors to expel it from the system. While it remains, it is a poison that festers in the blood and may develop into Scrofula. This condition causes derangement of the digestive and assimilatory organs, with a feeling of enervation, languor and weariness—often lightly spoken of as "only spring fever." These are evidences that Nature is not able, unaided, to throw off the corrupt atoms which weaken the vital forces. To regain health, Nature must be aided by a thorough blood purifying medicine, and nothing else is so effective as which is sufficiently powerful to expel from the system even the taint of Hereditary Scrofula.

The medical profession indorse AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, and many attestations of the cures effected by it come from all parts of the world. It is, in the language of the Hon. Francis Jewett, ex-State Senator of Massachusetts and ex-Mayor of Lowell, "the only preparation that does real, lasting good."

THEN AND NOW.

The Fishing Instinct—The Older One Grows the Stronger It Becomes.

There are only about a dozen men in this country who do not like to go fishing. Many do not go once in ten years, but all the time they think they will go next week or next month and they keep thinking of the fun they used to have thirty or forty years ago, when they were boys. An old man who had fished every year for fifty years, and enjoyed it, came into a business place the other day limping with one hand on the small of his back, and looking as if he wanted to die.

"Been fishing again, eh," said a clerk. "What luck?"

"O, no luck to speak of. The fact is my fishing days are over," said the old man with a sigh as a pain took him in the back. "I ain't what I used to be, boys; I ain't what I used to be. When I was a boy I would get up before daylight and walk ten miles barefooted, with a tamarack pole and a strong line and with a piece of pork rind for bait. I would catch fish till the cows came home. There were no rods and reels in those days, and no artificial flies that I know of. We would get a bite and throw the fish over our heads out on land and see him flop. I could catch fish enough for our family and all the neighbors and enjoy it. Later years, when I became a man, I had the fishing fever just as bad, and I would go a hundred miles to fish and spend a barrel of money and work hard for a week, and it would do me good. I would be heavier and stronger when I came back, and my brain would work like a steam engine. But now while I have the fever just as bad I am all used up. It takes me all the fall and winter to get over my aches and pains to get ready for the spring fishing, and the first day I go out I am used up for a month. Bones and muscles that I did not know I had years ago ache now so I am perfectly sure about where they are. I am too old to walk much and too rheumatic to ride in a boat long, and I have to be petted like a child. I have to employ a man to row the boat, put on my bait and take off my fish, and my fingers and thumbs are getting so rheumatic that I can hardly turn the handle to the reel. Another year and I will have my hired man reel in my fish while I sit in a chair on the bank, and then I want to die. When a man gets so it makes his back ache to cast his bait in the water, and his arms ache when he pulls in a fish, his legs ache when he stands up, his neck aches when he turns around, his head aches when the sun shines, and everything aches when it is cloudy and damp, and his stomach seems to all drop out an hour or two before lunch time, he is played out as a fisherman and ought to know it. I shall never go fishing again, never."

"O, you hadn't ought to give up fishing, uncle," said the clerk. "I see by the paper that the fish are biting splendidly out in Waukesha County. One man caught a hundred pounds of black bass in Okauchee yesterday."

"No!" said the old man as he took his hand off the small of his back and straightened up to try his back and see if it was broke. "Say, you pack up my rod and things and get them down to the two o'clock train, and I will go and take a Turkish bath and go out there for a day or two. If I could catch one fish and feel just as I did when I was a boy I would give a thousand dollars to feel the same freedom that I did then, with the old tamarack pole, walking around in the wet grass barefooted, looking into water and seeing the fish lazily watching me as though they thought I was no account on earth, and then noticing the difference of expression on the mug of the fish after I had him out on the bank. I wouldn't dare wade in a stream now and get my feet wet, because I would catch a cold that would lay me up for a month. I used to be wet from Genesis to Revelations six days in a week, and I never knew what it was to have a cold. I have carried a string of fish that weighed more than I did, a mile, and whistled all the way. I have been so tired I would go to sleep while scaling a fish in the old woodshed, and I was as happy as a person could be. But it is all changed now. Even pleasure is hard work, and I realize that I must stop fishing forever. But say, hurry up and get them things to the depot," and the old man who thought he never would fish any more went out to a tackle store to buy some hooks, and went to the depot forgetting to take his Turkish bath. O, they never give up fishing.—Peck's Sun.

Extent of the British Empire.

The British Empire covers nearly a sixth of the land surface of the earth. The entire surface of the globe is estimated at 197,000,000 square miles, of which a little more than a quarter, or 51,500,000 square miles, are land, and the total extent of the British Empire is 8,990,211 square miles, which may be tabulated thus:

	Square miles
Great Britain and Ireland	121,115
India and possessions	1,558,254
Other Eastern possessions	30,000
Australasia	3,174,344
North America	[illegible]

Africa	[illegible]70,000
West Indies	[illegible]
European possessions	120

The population of this enormous empire is estimated at 310,225,000 souls, and well was it said to be "a power which has dotted the surface of the whole globe with her possessions and military posts, whose morning drum beat, following the sun and keeping company with the hours, circles the earth with one continuous and unbroken strain of the martial airs of England."—London Times.

—It is stated that the practice among reformed inebriates is to take advantage of the bracing properties of tea, "thus repudiating," says a medical paper, "absolute teetotalism and adopting the plan of total tea-ism."—Chicago Herald.

Great Britain coined silver in the same year to the amount of $3,202,000; Germany to the amount of $120,084; Sweden, $134,441; Spain, $5,905,720; Austria, a silver country, $3,656,300, of which nearly half was in "Levantine trade dollars;" and Russia $1,235,850. The total silver coinage of Europe last year was but slightly more than half the minimum that the United States Treasury must coin while the present law stands.

THE report of the Inspector General of the Army shows that there are 110 military posts in the country, 40 per cent of which are garrisoned by two companies or less. Undoubtedly the majority of these posts are useless, serving no purpose except to scatter the troops in such a way that they cannot be used promptly and effectively when needed. They should be materially lessened, not only as a matter of common military sense, but also in the interest of economy. The cost of maintaining the army is glaringly out of proportion with the benefit derived from it, and much of the fault lies in the policy of dispersing the various commands in all directions instead of concentrating them at a few important points.

Father, Mother, and Three Sisters Dead.

Mr. David Claypool, formerly Sergeant-at-Arms of the New Jersey Senate, and now Notary Public at Cedarville, Cumberland Co., N. J., makes the following startling statement: "My father, mother, and three sisters all died with consumption, and my lungs were so weak I raised blood. Nobody thought I could live. My work (ship-smithing) was very straining on me with my weak constitution, and I was rapidly going to the grave. While in this condition I commenced using Mishler's Herb Bitters, and it saved my life. Because it was so difficult to get it in this little place, and I had improved so much, I stopped taking it for a time, and the result is that I have commenced going rapidly down hill again. Somehow, Mishler's Herb Bitters gives appetite and strengthens and builds me up as nothing else does, and I must have a dozen bottles at once. Use this communication as you please, and if any one wants to be convinced of its truth, let them write me and I will make affidavit to it, for I owe my life to Mishler's Herb Bitters."

The secret of the almost invariable relief and cure of consumption, dysentery, diarrhœa, dyspepsia, indigestion, kidney and liver complaints, when Mi assessment and collection monthly * * * of the tax upon the whole number of proof gallons, or of wine gallons when below proof, which the fractions of gallons removed from each distillery warehouse may aggregate. Under the act of March 3, 1877, distillers of brandy from grapes are afforded the advantages of three years' storage of their product in special bonded warehouses. The Commissioner is of the opinion that it would be advisable to make the provisions of the act applicable to all distillers of fruit brandy. The quantity of spirits, 67,649,321 gallons withdrawn, tax paid from distillery warehouses during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1885, was less than the quantity (78,312,174 gallons) withdrawn from distillery warehouses during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1884, by 10,663,153 gallons. On the subject of withdrawals of spirits the Commissioner says he is of the opinion that it would be best to allow spirits to remain in distillery warehouses an indefinite time, subject to peremptory withdrawals in case of excessive losses, provided the United States is reimbursed for the additional expense incident to such storage. He adds: "As in case of all other articles subject to internal revenue tax, the quantity actually consumed is the measure of the quantity upon which the tax is paid. Any law, therefore, which fixes the date of the payment of the tax at any time other than the date of the actual demand for consumption, is a disturbing element in the business of the producer, more or less severe, as the business of the distiller varies more or less from the artificial standard set up by the law."

In concluding, the Commissioner recommends that the Inspector of Tobacco be abolished, and that his duties be devolved upon the collectors of districts where inspections of tobacco, snuff, cigars or cigarettes for exportation are necessary.

Carlisle and the House Committees.

WASHINGTON, D. C., November 22.—Speaker Carlisle's friends say that his health has steadily improved since he arrived in Washington, and he is feeling well enough now to give considerable time every day to the work of arranging the committees. While in some respects better situated for his task than any Speaker has ever been before, in that he is absolutely free from all the pledges and promises incident to an active contest for the Speakership, it is understood that Mr. Carlisle is finding no little trouble in the distribution of members. Those who undoubtedly know his feelings and may be trusted to speak for him, say he will not forget the members who have been his fast friends in past years. They smile at the attacks on Mr. Morrison, since it is pretty well known that there is no doubt about his being appointed Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, or that his advice will be regarded in the general make-up of that committee, so as to insure a good working majority in harmony with his views on the tariff and other leading questions, as well as helpful assistants in the drudgery details of committee work.

Mr. Bland is another one of the old

German-Americans and the Bancroft Treaty.

WASHINGTON, D. C., November 22.—A gentleman, who is well informed in regard to the difficulties heretofore existing before this country and Germany, says he has no doubt that the trouble on the Isle of Foehr, recently reported by cable, is a matter entirely outside the Bancroft treaty. Inquiries at the State Department elicited the information that this Government has had no advices from Minister Pendleton, and does not expect to hear from him except by mail. As was stated a month or two since the officials of the State Department report that the United States has never had any difficulty in enforcing the terms of the Bancroft treaty. In most cases where German-Americans become involved in trouble in Germany it is found that their acts have taken them entirely outside of the treaty. Frequently their American citizenship is a mere pretext, and the offenses which invite the interference of the imperial Government are of a kind it would be foolish to ask the German authorities to ignore, when the offenders are Americans in name only and never intended to be citizens of this country in actual fact.

Disregarding the President's Proclamation.

WASHINGTON, D. C., November 22.—Reports from special agents of the General Land Office indicate that little or no attention was paid by the cattlemen who had illegally inclosed public lands to the President's message of last summer commanding the removal of the fences. Commissioner Sparks yesterday sent about forty letters to the Secretary of the Interior, each letter specifying and describing an illegal inclosure of public lands, giving the name of the holder or holders, and each recommending that the matter be brought to the attention of the Attorney-General, with a view to the institution of both civil and criminal proceedings for trespass against the offenders. General Sparks also recommends that these cases be laid before the President with the request that he exercise the authority conferred upon him by Congress in the matter. The act of Congress confers the power to make use of the military to secure the removal of the fences.

The Real Object of the Invitation

WASHINGTON, D. C., November 23.—A morning paper intimates that the real object of the invitation received by the Government from the Governor-General of India to send three officers of the United States army to India to witness the winter's manœuvers, of the British forces there, is to have the officers present at the capture of the Burmah capital by the troops under General Prendergast.

GARRETT WINS.

The President of the Baltimore & Ohio a Worthy Son of His Sire.

In Spite of All Obstacles and Difficulties He Secures Unlimited Terminal Facilities in New York,

By Acquiring a Controlling Interest in the Staten Island Rapid Transit Company.

NEW YORK, November 23.—At a meeting of the stockholders of the Staten Island Rapid Transit Company, held in this city yesterday afternoon, a contract was ratified which gives the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company the control of the property of the first named company. This result has been reached after protracted negotiations and secures to the Baltimore & Ohio ample terminal facilities at this port with which it will connect by an independent line. The contract was ratified by the stockholders of the Baltimore & Ohio Company at their recent annual meeting, but their action upon it was kept secret until other questions relating to the connection could be settled. According to the scheme now contemplated, the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad will come as far as the Reading depot in Philadelphia over its own tracks, which it is now completing at a total cost of about $11,000,000. From Philadelphia and Bound Brook, N. Y., it will run over the Philadelphia & Reading tracks under a modification of its contract with that company from Bound Brook. The Baltimore & Ohio will build about eighteen miles of road to Elizabethport, where it will connect with the Staten Island system. The connection will be made by an iron bridge or viaduct, about 600 feet long, over the Arthurkill. This bridge will cost, it is estimated, less than $300,000. The road from Bound Brook to Elizabethport will be practically a straight line through a comparatively level country. The rights of way have been secured, and the entire cost is estimated at about $1,500,000. The money is said to be in hand and the contracts awarded.

THE CONTRACT.

The contract between the Baltimore & Ohio Company and the Staten Island Rapid Transit Company provides that the former shall guarantee the principal and interest of the bonds of the latter, the total issue of which will probably amount to $2,000,000. The Baltimore & Ohio acquires one-half of the $500,000 stock of the Transit Company. This road will be completed within a month and the equipment is now ready for use. The facilities acquired by the Baltimore & Ohio include, besides the road mentioned, about two miles of deep water front, over 150 acres of land and all the ferries owned by the Staten Island Company and the dock facilities that it contracts. New fast steamers will be put upon the ferries by which it is declared the time between Staten Island and the Battery will be reduced to about fifteen minutes. That will be pretty fast going. The passenger station of the Baltimore & Ohio in this city will be at the foot of Whitehall street and close connection with all of the elevated roads. Arrangements for this connection have been perfected. The Staten Island Company originated largely with Erastus Wiman, who has been the principal promoter of the enterprise, and with the President, Mr. J. F. Emmons, has conducted on the part of the company the negotiations which were completed Saturday.

WHAT THE BALTIMORE & OHIO GAINS.

In speaking of the matter Mr. Wiman said "By this arrangement the Baltimore & Ohio secures an independent and unrestrained entrance to the harbor of New York, with extraordinary facilities for erecting passenger and freight depots, storage warehouses, coal yards, etc. By the new route they also shorten the distance between New York and Philadelphia, as a glance at any railroad map will show. We obtain the co-operation of a valuable ally and Staten Island will be largely the gainer in a commercial sense. The privileges of the Baltimore & Ohio are practically without limit. The Baltimore & Ohio can, if it chooses, issue coupon tickets at either Chicago, St. Louis or Cincinnati for a passage to any station on the elevated roads, and thus make those lines its actual termini. That would be a novelty for a lady traveling alone to purchase her ticket from St. Louis to Twenty-third street, New York.

"The freight facilities will be the most important point of all. New York piers now rent from $50,000 to $70,000 a year, and are too costly to be used for storage, consequently the bulk of that business passes out of the hands of the railroad companies and goes to Brooklyn, causing increased expense for lighterage and doubling handling. At Staten Island we give the Baltimore & Ohio access to twelve miles of the best water front in the entire harbor. Unlimited space can be secured for storage warehouses, and vessels can be laden direct from the cars. Merchandise forwarded from the West for exportation will here reach the railroad without breaking bulk and can be held in storage for Western shippers at lower rates. In short the Baltimore & Ohio has for all time carried its Eastern terminus to the harbor of New York and can increase its facilities according to its needs. Of course this will make the island a part of New York, the presence of the Baltimore & Ohio will increase its population and property will naturally increase its value. Staten Island is all right now."

It is said upon good authority, that owing to inside knowledge of the deal over $1,500,000 of real estate has changed hands on Staten Island within the last two weeks at advancing prices. In Wall street, when the news that the agreement had been consummated became public property, it was generally considered a bear argument of Jersey Central and it was also feared that it might result in a reopening of the trunk line differences. The determination of the Baltimore & Ohio to reach this city has long been known to the other companies, to say nothing of the public, and its assent to the new trunk line agreements have been with the understanding that it would do so. Hence it is rather difficult to see how much of a disturbance can be created until its new line is completed.

The Hamlet of the Play Was Absent.

EL PASO, TEX., November 22.—El Paso division, No. 69, Order of Railway Conductors, gave a banquet at the Grand Central Hotel last night in honor of Joseph W. Johnson, who was sent as a delegate to the Louisville (Ky.) convention. Mr. Johnson was unable to be present on account of the sudden sickness of his wife at Newton, Kas., but otherwise the banquet was a great success. Over 100 conductors were present from Texas and the Territories, and the banquet, which began shortly after nine o'clock, was interspersed with merriment and speeches appropriate to the joyous occasion. Telegrams of condolence were sent to Delegate Johnson. Among the outside railroaders present were Andy J. Crow, of Sedalia, Mo., Division No. 60, and T. E. Walsh, of Longview Division, No. 51. Conductor Jeff. Finley, of the Texas & Pacific, Grand Conductor of the lodge, managed the banquet.

COLD-BLOODED MURDER.

Samuel Smith Kills His Wife in a Fit of Jealousy.

CHICAGO, ILL., November 22.—As cold-blooded a murder as has ever been committed in Chicago was perpetrated Saturday evening at 310 Monroe street, an apartment house in which Samuel Smith and his wife may have been living since September 1st. About eight o'clock Smith shot his wife with a double-barreled shot-gun, the charge blowing the top of her head off and killing her instantly. Mr. Delong, the proprietor, knocked at the door and asked the cause of the explosion. Smith replied that he had accidentally exploded a shell. About half an hour later Smith was heard to leave the house, and as yet there is not the slightest clue to his whereabouts. Yesterday Mr. Delong receiving no reply to his repeated rappings at the door of the Smith's, forced it and found the body of Mrs. Smith stretched on the floor. She had been instantly killed, a charge of the gun having entered the head just back of the right ear and tearing its way through the brain. Explanation of the trouble may be found in two letters written by J. S. H. Bickford, a former lover of Mrs. Smith, which were discovered among the papers in Smith's room.

Mrs. Smith, whose maiden name was Emma Taylor, came from New Orleans. In Cleveland she met Bickford, fell in love with him, and became engaged. Before the marriage was consummated Smith came upon the scene, and induced Miss Taylor to elope with him to Buffalo. They came to Chicago. It would appear from Bickford's letter, that he followed the couple here and has haunted Mrs. Smith more or less ever since his arrival in this city. The testimony of the people with whom the couple have lived tends to strengthen the belief that Mrs. Smith was very frivolous, and her husband was decidedly jealous. Mrs. Smith was visited frequently by a man supposed to be Bickford, and the most reasonable solution of the murder is that she and her husband had a quarrel over the matter, in the course of which he killed his wife.

DOWNS AS A LION.

What His Enemies in Bowdoin Church Have Done for the Deposed Pastor.

BOSTON, MASS., November 21.—The announcement that W. W. Downs was to preach at Music Hall yesterday drew a tremendous crowd to that building. The hall seats 2,500 people, and every part was occupied. Two hundred more were accommodated with chairs on the platform, and about 1,000 crowded into the aisles. The crowd, of which two-thirds were males, was very respectable in appearance and well behaved. Only once was there applause. Mr. Downs delivered an interesting discourse on the general topic: "The Conversion of the Ethiopians." Collections were taken to defray the expenses of the service, the balance to go to Mr. Downs. The committee refused to announce the amount collected, but Mr. Downs is known to have carried away a twenty-five dollar check, a large roll of bills, and a hand-bag of silver. Definite arrangements will be made this week for holding two services each Sunday with as many during the week as interest demands.

Struck With Apoplexy in a Church.

NEW HAVEN, CONN., November 23.—During the service at the Episcopal Church in Wallingford yesterday morning, and while Miss Hattie S. Darling was singing a solo, her father, George S. Darling, was taken with an apoplectic fit. He was removed to the Wallingford Hotel, and died at three o'clock yesterday afternoon. The deceased was widely known in sewing machine circles, and a few years ago was the subject of an article in Harper's on sewing machine celebrities. He was the inventor of the Wilson Oscillating Sewing Machine, and for many years was Superintendent of the Wilson Factory at Grand Crossing, Ills. He leaves a widow and two daughters. One of the daughters is Mrs. W. J. Wilkes, of Chicago.

The Veterans' Complaint.

ALBANY, N. Y., November 23.—Charges were preferred before Governor Hill on Saturday against the Commissioners of Emigration of New York, by an association of soldiers known as the "Veteran Rights Union," and asking for their removal from office upon the ground that they have violated chapters 312 and 116 of the laws of 1884, in the unauthorized discharge of a soldier named Fawcett, and in their refusal to reinstate him when directed by the Governor so to do. Copies of the charges will be served upon the Commissioners, who will be required to answer them within eight days. The controversy has created great interest in Grand Army circles, which organization is understood to be backing the Veterans.

Damages for Breach of Promise.

LEBANON, IND., November 22.—The breach of marriage contract case of Miss Judia Bonnel against Martin V. McBroom has been on trial at Frankfort during the past week on a change of venue from this county. The jury returned a verdict for the plaintiff for $5,500 and costs, which will run it up to nearly $8,000. The case has excited great interest throughout Central Indiana. Miss Bonnel is the daughter of Dr. M. H. Bonnel, an old druggist and practitioner of this city, but now a well-to-do farmer of Harrison Township. With the suit just disposed of, she filed proceedings against McBroom for bastardy.

Burned to Death in Bed.

ST. JOHNS, N. B., November 23.—Jno W. Cudlip, Inspector of Customs at this port and one of the oldest residents of St. John, was found burned to death in his bed yesterday morning. He retired early and it is thought fell asleep while reading and the lamp had been upset.

A ST LOUIS CRANK

He Causes a Sunday Scare in Decatur, While Searching for a Friend

Sunday afternoon at about 4 o'clock a wild looking man, whose name proves to be David Webble, a machinist, hailing from St. Louis, entered the dwelling of David L Hughes, on East North street, through a rear door and went up stairs through several rooms until he came to one where Mrs Hughes was in the act of putting a stick of wood into a stove The lady was greatly frightened when she turned about and saw the strange man standing in the doorway She screamed and threw the stick at the man It fell short, striking at his feet, but he didn't move a peg Charley Hughes was asleep in another room The cries of his mother awakened him and he grappled with the intruder, finally compelling him to go down stairs and out of the house Webble offered no determined resistance, but kept talking about money and alluding to a party of three men who were trying to rob him Subsequently it was learned that Webble, on entering the upper rooms, had put a belt containing $500 in cash into a water pitcher and had afterwards taken off one of his shoes, which he left in the room intending no doubt to put the money in the shoe After he was taken out of the house, Webble forced Charley to take his pocket book containing $17 85, and keep it for him The family was considerably stirred up over the experience, and while Lou Henkle and several other men watched Webble, Charley Hughes went up town to bring his father home in a hurry Mr Hughes was very excited when he reached Webble and at once took hold of him, telling him to come along up town Webble resisted By threatening to cut his liver out Mr Hughes got the crank to move along quietly, and he was given over to Marshal Mason who put him in jail

It is learned that Webble came to Decatur on Saturday night but on Sunday his mind went wrong He had gone to the depot Sunday afternoon with the intention of going home He bought a ticket for St Louis when the notion struck him that a party of men were following him for the purpose of robbing him He didn't get on the 3 30 train, but started up town At R N Hughson's store he entered and had the clerk to count his money He wanted Hughson to put the money in the safe and keep it for him, and the clerk was in the act of putting it away when a man entered and bought a little book Webble turned around and saw the man, whereupon he hastily picked up his money and said "There is one of the men who are trying to rob me, and then he left the store going westward It's learned that Webble rang the bell at several houses along Eldorado street, asking each one who came to the door to help him and take care of his money, but of course each thought he was a crank and shut the door in his face He wandered about until he came to John D Henkle's place where he frightened Miss Annie by asking her as she understood him to give him $500 The door flew shut instantly, when the crank left and went into the Hughes residence in the next lot east, and had the experience already described

Webble has been working several years in St Louis His relatives reside at Pittsfield in Pike county They have been telegraphed to come and take charge of him This morning Dr Sibley, in company with Sheriff Foster and Marshal Mason, visited Webble at the jail He was found more quiet than he was last night It is the Doctor's opinion that Webble has been ill and that he will soon recover from his mental derangement

Adolph Acquitted

The charge against J S Adolph for maliciously damaging the household furniture of D[illegible] Morris, didn't stick Adolph testified that he did not visit the dwelling on the night in question and if he was not there of course there could have been no damage wrought by him A Miss Cutler testified that he did come to the house while Mrs Morris and her husband were away and commit the depredations complained of in the warrant Justice Curtis didn't think the testimony was sufficient and discharged the accused Adolph will have a hearing on a charge of carrying a revolver concealed on his person

THE ladies of the Baptist church will have their sociable at the residence of Mrs Frank Hays on East Eldorado street on Tuesday (to morrow) evening A programme both of a literary and musical character will be given Refreshments will be served A cordial invitation is given to all

THE board of supervisors of Piatt county will appoint a sheriff at its December meeting, to succeed Sheriff Andrew Andrew has not resigned, but Attorney General Hunt has rendered an opinion which in substance holds that Sheriff Andrew vacated the office of sheriff when he assumed the duties of United States deputy collector, in October

THE reorganization scheme of the Wabash system is now in a fair way to be carried out The friends of the road say that the reorganization of the Wabash company will place their property on a very firm basis It is believed that the Wabash road will have an independent eastern outlet at no distant day

Singular Accident

A little son of Joseph Edwards, residing at 941 West Wood street, met with a serious and painful accident on Saturday evening. He was playing in the yard, and while running he tripped and fell, and unfortunately struck upon some stiff stubble where shrubbery had been cut off, running one of the stubs into his left eye The eyeball was pierced and the sight will be destroyed The little fellow, who is six years old, is a great favorite in the neighborhood, and much sympathy is expressed for his misfortune A singular coincidence is the fact that the boy's father and his older brother each lost the left eye in a similar manner

Accident

Saturday night between 11 and 12 o'clock the Chicago express train on the Wabash road met with a serious mishap two miles this side of Taylorville while going at full speed The forward axle of the locomotive broke and threw the engine off the rails, but the cool headed engineer, Pat Nowland, promptly applied the air brakes and a disaster was thus averted Only the engine left the rails, and no one was hurt The wreck train was sent to the scene, but it was not until 7 o clock Sunday morning that the train arrived The passengers had a dull time of it waiting for the obstruction to be removed

The sequel to the little slugging match of Friday night between Pete Sells and Fred Woodbridge, the merchant policeman, will be witnessed before Justice Curtis this afternoon, between 3 and 4 o clock Fred didn't want to have a warrant issued for Pete, but Marshal Mason put Sells under arrest and now Woodbridge will have to appear and tell all about the rumpus the cause of which appears to be enveloped in mystery But Pete may plead guilty, in which event there will be no necessity of telling the story of the racket.

A WABASH SCHEME

The indications are that there will be a radical change in the through train service of the Wabash in the near future, which will enable that route to advertise itself as a first class New York line in every way A meeting will be held in New York this week between the Wabash people and the Vanderbilts when an effort will be made to bury the hatchet and resume business on the old basis, which, if agreed to will place the Wabash in the list of the Vanderbilt allied lines It is understood that the Wabash folks will agree to throw the Pullman and Mann cars off their line and use the sleepers of the New York Central Sleeping Car Company in their stead, if the Vanderbilts will agree to restore the old 'Toledo route' or if it is not desirable to do that to give the Wabash a route to New York via the Canada Southern and New York Central and to Boston via the Boston and Albany The Wabash Company is bent on operating through cars between St Louis and New York and Boston and they want to go to New York over the Central so as to be able to land their passengers in the Grand Central depot as the Bee Line does, thus avoiding a ferry transfer as is required by the lines landing their passengers at Jersey City There seems to be no doubt but that a satisfactory agreement of some kind will be made, and that in consideration of the Wabash throwing the Pullman and Mann cars off and operating President Webb's sleepers General Passenger Agent Chandler will be allowed to advertise through cars to New York via the New York Central and Hudson River Railway

Father, Mother, and Three Sisters Dead.

Mr. David Claypool, formerly Sergeant-at-Arms of the New Jersey Senate, and now Notary Public at Cedarville, Cumberland Co., N. J., makes the following startling statement: "My father, mother, and three sisters all died with consumption, and my lungs were so weak I raised blood. Nobody thought I could live. My work (shipsmithing) was very straining on me with my weak constitution, and I was rapidly going to the grave. While in this condition I commenced using Mishler's Herb Bitters, and it saved my life. Because it was so difficult to get it in this little place, and I had improved so much, I stopped taking it for a time, and the result is that I have commenced going rapidly down hill again. Somehow, Mishler's Herb Bitters gives appetite and strengthens and builds me up as nothing else does, and I must have a dozen bottles at once. Use this communication as you please, and if any one wants to be convinced of its truth, let them write me and I will make affidavit to it, for I owe my life to Mishler's Herb Bitters."

The secret of the almost invariable relief and cure of consumption, dysentery, diarrhoea, dyspepsia, indigestion, kidney and liver complaints, when Mishler's Herb Bitters is used, is that it contains simple, harmless, and yet powerful ingredients, that act on the blood, kidneys, and liver, and through them strengthens and invigorates the whole system. Purely vegetable in its composition; prepared by a regular physician; a standard medicinal preparation; endorsed by physicians and druggists. These are four strong points in favor of Mishler's Herb Bitters. Mishler's Herb Bitters is sold by all druggists. Price $1.00 per large bottle. 6 bottles for $5.00.

Ask your druggist for MISHLER'S HERB BITTERS. If he does not keep it, do not take anything else, but send a postal card to MISHLER HERB BITTERS CO., 525 Commerce Street, Philadelphia.

BURGLARY.

The Style That Prevails in the City of Milwaukee.

"Literature," said Mr. Howells, in an article that raised a hubbub in England, "has become a finer art in our day than it was with Dickens and Thackeray." The same may be said of burglary. It is to be regretted that the good name of the profession of housebreaking has suffered considerably in the estimation of all persons whose opinion is worth having because of certain accompanying acts that appeared to border on violence. Rightly or wrongly, a kind of odium attached itself to that arduous calling to such an extent that thoughtful parents hesitated about advising their sons to enter on an undertaking that has been looked upon as tolerably lucrative. There is no other profession that offers such advantages in the way of collecting valuable bric-a-brac and articles of undoubted usefulness as the profession of burglary. This of itself would make the business one congenial to the cultivated mind; yet, strange as it may appear, it is stated on good authority that burglars are not admitted into the best society in Boston or New York unless they come in by the usual business entrance of an unlocked door or a pried-open window.

Thus many of our best young men are deterred from entering a profession which affords tremendous advantages to the skillful and ingenious, simply because of the social drawbacks that such a choice of occupation involves. It may be said that the night-work necessitated and the personal danger attendant on a diligent prosecution of this industry has much to do with its neglect. It is held, for instance, that the law affords equal—and somewhat similar—opportunities, and that the law is a profession that can be followed by daylight, and that the risk of encountering stray particles of lead is not so great as in the kindred pursuit of burglary. Still, lawyers are under no social ban, and so, until recently, law has been preferred to burglary.

The reason for the ill-odor of burglary is not far to seek. Burglars have been too lax in the observance of those little acts of politeness and courtesy that so largely tend to soften human intercourse. The new school of burglary will do much to change this order of things. At present this improved method is being tried with great success in Milwaukee. The case of Mr. Ray has already been referred to in these columns, and since then the telegraph brings the account of another burglary in the same city where the burglar maintained a demeanor of the utmost politeness toward his client. He went on the principle that "in small affairs like these the expression, 'if you please,' a particularly gentlemanly tone implants," and no doubt so thought the sisters and the cousins and the aunts of the Milwaukee man whose house was being inventoried at the time. Instead of putting the muzzle of a pistol to a man's ear, and flashing a dark lantern under his nose, the burglar of the future will gently wake the man of the house and say to him:

"Excuse me, sir, for troubling you, but the fact is that I am looking for some little things here and am rather unacquainted with the lay of the house."

The man being suddenly awakened may so far forget himself as to make remarks that in cooler moments he would regret but these the polished burglar will take no notice of.

"Excuse my seeming inquisitiveness," he will remark, blandly, "but would you be so kind as to inform me where you keep your cash?"

Thus the necessary business pertaining to a visit of this kind can be transacted with decorum and pleasure to both parties.

It is not too much to hope that in the near future the occupation of burglary may be so systematized that every burglar will have a certain number of clients and that the politest burglar will have the greatest number. By strict attention to business and by respectful treatment a burglar may amass a large amount of wealth. As he rolls past in his carriage admiring friends will say: "There goes De Winton, who has the burglary monopoly on some of the finest houses on Woodward avenue." The system may be extended so that one burglar will have the professional etiquette not to encroach on another's territory. If by mistake he enters a house out of his bailiwick, the proprietor will merely say: "Beg your pardon, but De Winton does all my burglary," and the intruder, with profuse apologies, will at once withdraw.

The effect of the new school of burglary on the professional in general ought to be very great, and it is much to the credit of a small Western town like Milwaukee that the ethics of that important branch of industry should have been first put into practice there.

Ran Away With a Locomotive.

JACKSONVILLE, FLA., November 20.—Richard Baldwin, aged thirteen years, who ran away from Kensington, Ill., to join a circus, leaped into the unoccupied cab of an engine on the Jacksonville, St. Augustine & Halifax River Railroad at St. Augustine Wednesday night, and pulling out the throttle started at full speed for Jacksonville. At Bayard, however, the water in the boiler gave out, and the engine stopped, when Baldwin jumped off and escaped into the woods. Fortunately there was no night train on the schedule.

The Short-Line From Montreal to Halifax.

OTTAWA, ONT., November 21.—The contract for the construction of the Short-line from Montreal to Halifax has been awarded to the International Railroad Company. Construction will begin within six months, and is to be completed four years from the 1st of January, 1886.

The Deed of a Drunken Brute.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., November 21.—Otto Koblank went to his boarding-house drunk Thursday night, and began to abuse his landlady, Mrs. Sweeny. He finally seized a kettle of boiling water and poured it over the unfortunate woman. Mrs. Sweeny is in great agony and can not recover.

The Congress of Churches.

WATERBURY, CONN., November 21.—The Executive Committee of the Congress of the Churches is already arranging for the meeting of 1886, which will probably be held in St. Louis. A circular asking suggestions as to Vice-Presidents and topics for discussion will shortly be sent to interested men in all denominations.

Shot His Wife and Her Supposed Lover.

WASHINGTON, D. C., November 20.—Louis Summerfield, a Polander, shot and killed his wife Christine, and then shot and killed Gotleib Eisebrown, a saloon-keeper. The victims of the shooting died almost immediately. Summerfield was immediately arrested and locked up. The cause is supposed to be jealousy.

Groblewski Convicted.

NEW YORK, November 20.—James Goblewski, the Pole who has been on trial in Brooklyn for killing his wife by slow poison, was last night found guilty of murder in the first degree. He was convicted upon the testimony of Winifred Handley, a girl in his employ, for whose sake he is said to have committed the crime.

Establishing Rates.

CHICAGO, ILL., November 20.—The passenger agents of the Eastern lines in session here yesterday decided to make the basing rate from Chicago to New York $20. Rates from the points west of Chicago will be established on this basis but tickets purchased in Chicago for passage from Chicago to New York will be sold at the rate which now prevails.

CÆSAR had his Brutus, Charles the First, his Cromwell, and dyspepsia meets its overthrow in that greatest of all modern remedies, Mishler's Herb Bitters. Here is an instance that goes to show the wonderful curative properties of the medicine. Millard F. Howard was reduced in a year from 165 pounds to less than 120, and was rapidly declining. His friends said he was on the highway to death. The ordinary remedies all failed. Mishler's Herb Bitters was recommended. He tried it. The decline ceased at once. He began to take flesh; his appetite improved, and he soon regained perfect health.

GORGEOUS bar-rooms seem essential nowadays to the popularity of some hotels.

Street Beggary.

To be a successful street beggar a man must look forlorn and debilitated, and unable to work. It would not do for a street beggar to take Brown's Iron Bitters, for that would tone him up and give him a wholesome ambition to labor, and he would have to go out of the beggary business and do something better. Mr. Josiah Morse, Henniker, N. H., says, "I received much benefit by using Brown's Iron Bitters for general debility."

A NEW town in Russia has been named New York in honor of the American metropolis.

HAVE used Tongaline as a local application to an inflamed and swollen knee joint, and I never knew pain and swelling subside more rapidly.
